Natural Science Group To Leave

Students Leave Sunday Morning For Fallen Leaf Lake Nature Study Trip Near Tahoe In High Sierras

Sometime between 7 and 8 o'clock Sunday morning, 75 students will leave San Jose on their way to Fallen Leaf Lake, northeast of Lake Tahoe in the Sierras, for a week of camping and fun with the West Coast School of Nature Study.

Undecided until last week as to whether enough students had signed to make the trip, the school's faculty voted to go as planned. The students were contacted and the trip was organized. The 75 making the trip have been divided into cooking groups and will do their own cooking except for the main dish of each meal. Campers will sleep out except in case of rain, in the event of which shelter will be provided in tents.

In the past week 15 students have signed to go to Fallen Leaf Lake. Dr. Gertrude Witherspoon, registrar, announced yesterday the deadline for signing to go is now passed and no others will be accepted in the school, Dr. Witherspoon said.

Transportation is being provided for the students going on the trip. Units of credit in natural science will be given for the week's trip and there are no examinations scheduled.

Dr. Witherspoon said that although the quota of 100 students was not reached, it was felt that this might be the last excursion of its kind for the duration due to restrictions on transportation facilities. This and the enthusiasm of the students planning to go were the reasons for the decision that assured the trip.

Six all-day field trips in the mountainous area around Fallen Leaf Lake and Lake Tahoe are planned; only one of these trips to be by car, the rest being hikes.

The West Coast School of Nature Study is based on the theory that it is easier and more fun to learn natural science presented in this manner. Over 100 students took the School's trip to Death Valley for a week during Easter vacation this spring, and many of those who went on the desert trip have signed to leave Sunday morning for a week at Fallen Leaf Lake.

All women who have applied for work in the canneries this summer are requested to report to the Dean of Women's office immediately.

Three Red Cross Swimming Courses Taught In Summer

Three American Red Cross swimming courses will be conducted this summer in the San Jose State college pool by Miss Gail Tucker of the Physical Education department and an American Red Cross field representative.

The two courses to be conducted by Miss Tucker are "Senior Life Saving" and "Preliminary Instructors' Course."

"Senior Life Saving" will meet daily next week, June 27-27, from 2 to 5 o'clock. This course may be taken by college or town men and women who are 17 years old and up.

The "Preliminary Instructors' Course" will meet daily next week, June 22-27, from 7 until 10 o'clock p.m. Men and women taking this course must have a senior life saving certificate in good standing or have had an instructor's rating which needs renewing. They must be at least 19 years old, and must attend all sessions.

An instructor's course in swimming, diving, life saving, and water safety will be given the week of June 29 to July 4. A field representative of the American Red Cross will conduct this course, which must be preceded by Miss Tucker's "Preliminary Instructors' Course."

There will be no charge. Everyone is asked to furnish his own cap and towel.

Alpha Pi Omega Elects Officers For Fall Quarter

Newly-elected officers for next fall quarter were formally installed during Alpha Pi Omega's Senior Breakfast meeting at Lucia's, Sunday morning.

Jerry Becker is the new president, replacing Bill Mitchell. Vice-president, replacing Becker, is John Watson.

Warren Untiedt was elected treasurer, while Jack White, former treasurer, takes over the post of corresponding secretary. Bob Mendenhall replaces Watson as recording secretary, and Mitchell and Glenn McMenomy replace Bob Freeland and Virgil Young as inter-fraternity representatives.

Seniors and members leaving for the service were honored at the breakfast, which concluded the on-campus social fraternity's activities for the school year.

Seniors graduating are Harry Lines and former pledgemaster Freeland. Going into service are Young, Gene Beresini, Bruce Roberts, Carl Peterson and Harlow Van Meter.

CORONATION MARCH FROM "THE PROPHET" TO OPEN GRADUATION EXERCISES TOMORROW IN QUAD

When the San Jose State college band plays the opening strains of the Coronation march from "The Prophet" tomorrow afternoon, the graduating class of '42 will begin their Processional march into the quad for commencement exercises which begin at 4 o'clock.

The quad will be converted into an outdoor auditorium for the graduation, with seats provided for spectators and raised bleachers for the graduates. A platform at the south entrance will be used for presentation of diplomas.

Four hundred seventy students from the December, March, June, and August classes constitute the 1942 class which is the seventy ninth to graduate from San Jose State college.

Following the Invocation, which will be given by Dr. Mark Rifenbark, presentation of the class gift will be made by Wesley Young, president of the graduating class.

Tom Taylor, who was recently elected president of the associated students for the coming year, will make the acceptance.

ONE THOUSAND STUDENTS EXPECTED FOR SUMMER SCHOOL REGISTRATION; CLASSES START JUNE 30 END AUGUST 7

FEW LETTERMEN RETURNING FOR GRID SEASON

Spartan grid hopes, flaming highest in 1938, '39, and '40 and slightly dimmed last season, seem to depend on a handful of returning lettermen and junior college transfers for the 1942 football campaign.

A fairly successful spring practice period disclosed that to field a powerhouse next year the coaching board will have to do some heavy "bush shaking" this summer in order to bolster a squad that is strong in spirit but weak in adequate manpower. Assuming that all the spring session first-stringers will return in the fall, the Spartans will have a line averaging approximately 186 pounds and a backfield of 174 pounds. While this average is a little light for top flight college football, the men making up the team are all veteran campaigners of two or three years and should be able to more than hold their own in any company.

RESERVES WEAK

However, it is the reserves that are giving the coaches the biggest headache. There are some top-flight men on the second string, but, on the whole, the reserve

An enrolment of approximately 1000 students will again bring signs of life to the San Jose State college campus with registration on June 29.

Summer classes will draw a number of teachers from the California schools and undergraduate students from various colleges and universities. In addition to the undergraduates matriculating here, there will be a number of seniors from our own institution who will return to get units enough to make their graduation tomorrow valid.

This summer the school program is offering a number of new courses that have been prompted either directly or indirectly by the war. Two courses in mathematics are being offered for those needing them for some phase of defense or military work. These will prove valuable to students registered in the Navy V-1, V-5 and V-7 programs.

A new course offered by the Health and Hygiene department, Teaching First Aid, will be interesting to all those who have some active part in the Civilian Defense organizations of their communities. It will also be of interest to those teachers who have been called upon to teach first aid but who do not hold instructors' certificates of the American Red Cross. Prerequisites for the course are that applicants be 21 years old and hold a Standard First Aid Certificate from the American Red Cross dated not earlier than 1939.

Students Urged To Save Articles

Students are being asked to do their packing with a special thought in mind this year.

Things that usually would be thrown away may be the very thing which would help fellow students who are attempting to teach smaller Japanese children in assembly centers without the necessary equipment.

So if you have any crayons, colored paper, or materials for hand work of any kind that is no longer of use to you, please turn them in to the Student Center or to Miss Clara Hinz in the Dean of Men's office.

Students May Get La Torre's Today; Receipts Required

"Sixty per cent of the student body bought La Torre's this year, a figure which greatly surpassed our expectations," announced Walt Schmidt, business manager of the 1942 La Torre.

La Torre's were distributed yesterday from noon until 5 o'clock and will be distributed again today. All who have not called for their yearbooks are requested to do so today before 5 o'clock if possible. Bring receipts and 10 cents for sales tax, Schmidt asks.

STUDENT BOOK EXCHANGE WILL CLOSE AT NOON TODAY; ALL STUDENTS ARE URGED TO LEAVE USED BOOKS NOW

Having completed its second year of successful operations, the Student Book Exchange will close today.

Students are urged to leave their used textbooks with the Exchange now for sale at fall quarter at a better price. Money collected will be distributed when the exchange opens in September.

Money will be sent to students who leave books at the Exchange and do not return next quarter, according to Marie Hayes, chairman of the operations committee.

Books especially in demand include "Patterns for Living," "Writing and Thinking" and the first-year psychology books.

The Book Exchange is a non-profit organization providing a market for the sale and purchase of used books without the presence of the middleman's profit which the student would lose in trading through a bookstore, Marshall Kelley, chairman of the organization, states.

The only charge for the service is a 5 per cent deduction to cover operating expenses.

Service, Defense Council Terminates Activities For Spring Quarter Today

Today terminates the Spartan Student Service and Defense Council activities for the spring quarter. The group will commence its activities again next fall.

The Defense Council's activities have been manifold:

They have given dances for the service men, organized parties, variety shows to USO halls and Army camps, sent bulletins to various camps, notified soldiers of letters and meetings, organized emergency medical corps, conducted survey of college cars and tires, sponsored pledge stamp campaign, furnished speakers for City Civilian Defense offices, and co-operated with faculty in air-raid plans.

Rex Gardiner was general council chairman, with Florence Booth as assistant chairman. Alice Woods headed the recreation division, and Ann McLaughlin headed the defense division. Marilynne Skinner handled the latter during the winter quarter. Other committee members were Charlotte Rideout, Tom Griffin, Dave Atkinson, Don

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE
President San Jose State College

I hate to talk as seriously as this for my last message of the year, but it's war time now and I hope you will understand.

Most of you have not known it, of course, but we have a group of young men right here in our midst whose loyalty to our country may well be questioned. I refer to those fellows who have been sneaking into the Union recently, since Bud left, and playing cards when they should have been taking advantage of the college equipment to get ready for national duty.

I saw them there Friday when I was taking our State Assemblyman around the college. I was anxious that he should see the Union and see how much it was needed. We have been trying for six years to get the State to buy that property.

And there they were, about ten of them, right in the middle of a school morning; right in the midst of our country's greatest crisis; crouched over a pack of greasy cards—kidding themselves.

Our country can't expect anything from fellows like that. They could never be trusted. It would be dangerous to give them responsibility. In the presence of a pack of cards they lose all sense of values, all control over themselves.

Five of our college young men have already been killed in this war. Hundreds of others are now fighting, and at least a thousand more are preparing to do their part. It is simply incongruous that any of their schoolmates could waste valuable time, could fail to capitalize on the enormous expenditure the State is making for them, could be willing to accept cheap entertainment when they should be getting ready for the great struggle.

This may sound like a poor sort of last message for the year, but the times are serious. I hope you will understand.

This is war, young folks; a fighting war. It's a war for everybody. If you work in a cannery this summer you will be serving in the war. If you pick tomatoes in the field you will be serving. If you review your mathematics, your physics, your meteorology, you will be getting ready for your turn. If you go into medicine or engineering, you will still be serving—but you're just a common washout if you waste any time this summer.

I know well that the majority of you will do your duty fully. You will come up to the scratch like the true quality that you are, and to you I extend the best wishes of the college for the happiness of high achievement.

We cannot have one hundred per cent perfection even in a group of selected college students, but I hope as many of you as possible will realize that this summer must be no picnic.

Good luck!

ON MY HONOR

By BO

Today is the last day of finals . . . Now to start studying . . . Had three finals . . . Handed in three blarney papers . . . I'm pretty mad at my corpuscle . . . I swallowed the answers and he was supposed to read them and then waded at the answers to me . . . I got no answers . . . He claims that I slipped him a mickey.

Spend all my spare time between tests running back and forth from the quad to the coop . . . My corpuscle has been so busy looking at the women that now he wants me to buy him a comb . . . He kept me awake all last night shining his shoes.

Took a sunbath yesterday to try to get a tan . . . I got so red that I may have to spend the summer on an Indian reservation . . . Some old lady took one look at my nose and said, "We've got to do something to keep the younger generation out of the bars." . . . To make it worse, I had to hiccough.

I applied for the Navy today . . . They accepted me and I signed a contract . . . Now I'm stuck . . . They don't want me for a sailor . . . I'm to be used to plug up the leaks in the Tennessee . . . I'll also be used to clean out the guns . . . They just put a raccoon coat on me and push me in and out through the barrel.

Everybody is making fun of my cords . . . They are not so dirty . . . Just because they shake me out of bed every morning doesn't mean anything . . . I'm not so sure though . . . I dropped a piece of meat on my pants yesterday . . . I heard a growl and the meat disappeared . . . I put my hand down to see where it went . . . I'm typing this with one hand . . . The other one is gone with the cords . . . When I hang the cords in my gym locker they keep beating against the door, yelling, "Let me out. Let me out." . . . They locked me in yesterday.

Everybody sure wants their La Torre pretty badly . . . I walked out to the quad with one yesterday . . . I've got one-half of the cover . . . Some twenty other students divided the rest of the book among themselves.

"Adios"

It has long been a tradition of the outgoing editor to pen an editorial of farewell.

We can truthfully say that the Daily has had a hectic year, primarily because of the war.

Many of the men on the staff have gone into the various branches of the service, taxing both the advertising and editorial staff to capacity.

We have made mistakes, as any paper or person does. Sometimes we have been criticized but this has made the staff work harder in perfecting their work.

When the new staff takes over next quarter, they, too, will have to face the fact that this country is at war—working with a skeleton crew and many of the stumbling blocks that go with the publishing of a daily paper. But we sincerely hope that they will "carry on" and keep the Spartan Daily rolling.

To the staff that has so faithfully worked this quarter we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation. And so, it comes time to close the forms and send the last issue of the Spring quarter to bed.

Here's To The Seniors

We, the undergraduates want to take this opportunity to wish the graduating seniors the best of what the future has to offer.

Soon the "big" seniors will parade up to the altar and receive their degrees. Some of these "sheepskins" will be framed, others will be shelved, and still others with go before the various boards of the services in compliance to admission. My, it must be swell to receive the long awaited A. B. Having come in contact with a few seniors in my short, but pleasant stay at San Jose State college I can safely say that many of those that will walk the "last mile" have been trying to receive the famed diploma for more than just four years. To some it has been fun, and yet to others, believe it or not, it has meant hard and tedious work.

Here's to the seniors, those lucky guys; for they finished just in time. We are all set. No one will have to worry about the future. They are all ones. No one can take that A. B. away from them. That's theirs for all eternity. Four "grand" years of college behind them. Anything that they want to attempt to do they can do, and will do it in a big way. Those great big seniors, the idols of the undergraduates. Now all they have to do is to live up to the name that they will leave.

How many of those graduating really realize what an A. B. means? To some it means four years of work, some put in more; to those that worked through college it means still something different, after a hard day's work in the books, then it means going to work for the public. And yet those Friday night dances, and those spring formal were fun. So, I guess all in all college has been pretty keen.

Three SJS Track Stars Compete In AAU This Weekend

Bill Smith, Willie Steele and Thelmo Knowles, three of the outstanding performers of Coach Bud Winter's Spartan track team, will compete in the AAU championships in New York tomorrow and Saturday.

Running for the Southern California Athletic association, these men are expected to gain points in at least four events, with the possibility of placing first in at least two of them.

Steele and Smith form the most formidable broadjumping combination in the country, both having done 25 feet or better. They hold the best jumps in the country and stand an excellent chance of finishing one-two. Steele is also Pacific Coast champion in the hop, step and jump and should place among the leaders.

Smith's second event is the 100 yard dash in which he has been running a constant close second to California's Hal Davis. Smith has recorded two 9.5's this century and followed Davis to the tape by less than a foot in a 9.4 second race at the West Coast Relays. On the basis of these performances, Smith rates one of the favorites in this race.

Thelmo Knowles, the third member of the trio, although only a freshman, has the best time on the Pacific Coast in the half-mile. Knowles ripped off a 1:53.9 880 in Los Angeles to defeat the cream of the west's middle-distance men and earn his trip east. However, it is hard to predict what he will do as he has not been pressed hard and is probably capable of even better time when the competition is tough.

College Fraternity Celebrates End Of Year Today

Active and alumni members of Epsilon Nu Gamma, pre-engineering fraternity, will celebrate the ending of the quarter with a picnic at Alum Rock Park this afternoon.

The picnic will also find the group honoring the fraternity adviser, Mr. R. J. Smith, who is leaving to take a position on the Stanford faculty.

Alumni who are planning to attend are William Meyer, Darrell Pelgrim and Vincent Arena. All three will be graduated from Stanford this year.

The fraternity recently elected new officers. They are Fred Kruse, chief engineer; Alvin Van Every, associate engineer; Leland Hoffman, draftsman; Joe Guillis, business engineer; and Leland Amaya, foreman.

All of Dr. E. O. Sission's students may pick up their papers in Room 16.

Any man who was under 20 on March 1, 1942, may enlist in the Navy V-1 training class up until November 1, the Navy has just announced.

This new ruling will include freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Enlist in this order a person, 20 years old, who enlisted in the V-1 training class had to be a junior.

Wanted: Two passengers to go to Chicago. Leaving Saturday. See Wes Young.

ANDERSON, SOPH COMMERCE MAJOR, HEARD ON RADIO

Herbert Anderson, sophomore commerce major, and John Satterstrom, sophomore industrial arts major, both from Kingsburg, were interviewed over KSFO last Saturday evening by Doug Montell, associated sports announcer, as successful candidates for the U. S. Marine Officers' Training Corps.

The two were sworn in Saturday morning with deferment until graduation with six months' notice before starting their training.

They participated in the Marine Corps program by asking the Marine sergeant some typical questions of the successful candidate and in turn they were asked questions of their background and favorite sports.

Civilian defense workers were Margaret Schrader, Ken Fisher, Babe Inman and Mary Suransky.

Public Relations workers were Mary Dimock and Florence Booth. Weber Lund headed the financial committee.

The council was originally organized by Charlotte Rideout.

Phil Schmidt was student director of the variety shows, after Tommy Taylor and Izzy Gold. Schmidt also handled publicity for the council. Mr. Peter Mingrone and Mr. Hugh Gillis of the faculty were active in the arrangement of the variety shows, as was Rex Gardiner, general chairman.

Students Allowed To Enlist In Army And Finish School

The War Department today announced its Enlisted Reserve Corps plan for college students. In general it calls for the voluntary enlistment in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps of a certain number of college students possessing superior qualifications, such students to remain for the time being in an inactive status in order to continue their education.

Somewhat similar plans have already been announced by the Navy and the Army air forces. All of these plans have been adopted in the belief that further education for the purpose of acquiring special knowledge and of developing certain definite capacities for leadership will be of substantial value to the Army and Navy when the men thus enlisted are later called to active duty.

Fall Gridiron Team Lacks Reserves

strength is weaker than at any time in the past. Messrs. Hartman, Winter and Portal are faced with the task of rebuilding practically an entire squad with newcomers during the summer months.

Another factor to be considered is the loss of Walt McPherson to the Navy. Walt, a great fullback in his playing days, was an outstanding backfield coach ever since his graduation. Predicted by some to have an inside track on the head coaching job next fall, McPherson will be sorely missed when fall rolls around.

President Roosevelt presented a bill to Congress which may change the whole setup for students who they would be unable to continue in college.

Loans will be made up to $500 and will be given to students who are studying in technical and professional fields (national defense). These loans will enable students to pursue courses beyond the second collegiate year who have attained and continue to maintain satisfactory standards of scholarship, who are in need of assistance, and who agree in writing to participate, until otherwise directed by said chairman, in accelerated programs of study in any of the fields authorized, and who agree to engage for the duration of the war in which the United States is now engaged, in such employment or service as may be assigned by officers or agencies designated by the chairman.

The loan will run at a 2½ per cent interest rate per year. Repayments of such loans will be made through the college.

THRUST and PARRY

• CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

To the Seniors:

Your spirit and enthusiasm have been limitless. The more that had to be done the harder you worked. Right through all the activities of the quarter, the orientation programs, Sneak Week (what a week!), the Ball, Baccalaureate, the Theater Party, Reception, Picnic, and the Banquet (tonight) the seniors have been on the job.

The proverbial "work horses" of course were right in there pitching, but the most pleasing thing to me was that whenever any help was needed any senior was willing to go to work for the class.

At the risk of becoming overly sentimental, I want to say that I think working and planning with the senior class has been an experience in democratic living.

Sincerely,

— Wes Young,
Senior Class President
